Opinion Is Expected to Aid Tax Cut.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Kennedy administration hopes to generate a new wave of public opinion in the next few weeks to wash away the still strong pockets of opposition resistance to a cut in taxes.

The house ways and means committee provided a solid base for such a campaign when it passed last Wednesday the general design for tax reduction and thereby gave virtual assurance that the measure will be a vote in the house.

Once the bill is on the floor, the little chance for any amendments which do not carry the committee's approval. On all accompanying bills, the administration officials believe the house will accept the package although the senate will be asked to make major changes, or at least the whole thing.

"I have always said the ways and means committee was the key to a high treasury official bill," Kennedy said when he signed the bill. "I believe it will get through although the senate will be asked to make major changes, or at least the whole thing."

"Now that the man in the street can tell what form the legislation is likely to take, he added, 'I think there will be a lot more public pressure behind it. Not each taxpayer will go out and say how much a cut will affect his tax."

The new cut tax rates at the top 20 per cent, with the largest whacks at the bottom and top of the income scale. For monthly treasury officials have been saying the major test for tax legislation was not whether it would be passed in a single legislative session, but whether it would be passed in a single legislative session.

Hailey Changes Over to Direct Distance Dialing

HAILEY, Aug. 19.—Hailey, which had the first telephone exchange in Idaho, is the first to change over to direct distance dialing. At midnight Saturday the last "number please" day in the town of 10,000 was heard from the local switchboard.

The exchange began operation here Oct. 1, 1923, in the territory of Idaho, and it was planned to be the last to be changed, according to W. W. Clark, Twin Falls, district manager, but the change over has not yet been made at Arco and Madras.

When local residents now dial their next door neighbor their voice will travel 150 miles or more to the main office at Twin Falls and back. Four reflectors for the system have been installed on top of Bald Mountain, and others on top of the new telephone office in Ketchum, Kinsey butte and the Jerome butte.

The first telephone operation in the territory of Idaho, who operated the Hailey exchange, was Nathan Kinsbury, who later became "vice president" of the American Telephone and Telegraph company. Only men operators were hired for several years.

Three of the first "central" girls who worked in the office after the turn of the century, and who still reside here are Mrs. Hattie (Pedroli) Clement, Mrs. John (Ketchum) Ketchum, and Mrs. Thomas (Hartung) Miller.

Mrs. Mrs. (Nella Weiss) Wood, who now resides in Washington and visits here almost yearly, also was an operator at this time. "Wages were different in those days," Mrs. Rutter reminisces.

was relief operator for a time and received $15 a month. When I got a raise to $40 a month it was raised.

The first office of the company was in back of what was known as the Picotte building at the corner of Main and Croft streets. The front of which was occupied by Mr. Picotte's daily newspaper.

In the early 1900's, the company moved its office a few doors away to a larger office located on Croft street where Mr. and Mrs. Ray Latake now reside. In 1937 all new equipment was obtained to handle the increased business and the firm moved into building of its own on North Main street.

The business office will remain here, but the switchboard and all other equipment of the exchange will be removed.

Residents of the area are all of one accord—they are going to miss the friendly voices of the operators who Saturday received their last paychecks from the company.

They are Mrs. Ben (Velda) Cutler, chief operator; Mrs. William (L. L.) 1923, in the territory of Idaho, and it was planned to be the last to be changed, according to W. W. Clark, Twin Falls, district manager, but the change over has not yet been made at Arco and Madras.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—The year through the traditionally third quarter of the year the course of business and industry again is looking the exports. The latest figures show that the economy continues to show signs of recovery.

In July steel and auto output both dropped by the text books this month have changed the federal reserve board's industrial production index down. It didn't. The index rose to a record high. Other kinds of industrial activity were just too strong for the old-time bellwethers to lead to the downward path.

Employment, especially in manufacturing, was up a good deal this summer, when a large seasonal decline was expected. Better than ordinary gains for the time of year were reported in services, trades and construction. The rise matched the increase in the labor force.

So the output of goods other than basic steel and autos was too good and prospects for sales too bright for the decline in the economy that had been feared with the advent of hot weather and mass vacations.

Steel making fell off because customers were still using up quotas inventory stacked high when a new labor contract was being hammered out.

Auto activity started its seasonal slowdown while production lines were being set up for new models. Auto production should climb again shortly. Steel activity is expected to quicken in another month or so.

Meaning, the rest of the economy is strong enough to shine without them. Output of most consumer goods, other than autos, has increased. So has production of business equipment.

The goods continue to move into the hands of consumers. In the last four weeks department store sales have increased in every one of the 12 federal reserve districts ranging from a gain of one per cent in the highest to a loss of 12 per cent in New York. Retail sales in general are ahead of last year in all classifications except apparel. Back-to-school promotions, now starting, should perk up clothing.

Personal income has held to a fairly steady upward trend. While individual savings totals have soared, so have consumer expenditures. Outstanding installment debt is at a record high, indicating both consumer confidence—in future incomes and business confidence in consumer ability to keep up with the payments. Many corporations have reported record earnings.

The economy isn't as strong as many would like. But it's a lot healthier than some viewers with alarm were predicting.

They are now forecasting a record national output of goods and services this year of $80 billion dollars or better. The annual rate of this gross national product in the first three months was $70 billion dollars. This rose to $70 billion dollars in the April-May-June period. Some think the pace may hit $80 billion dollars in the final three months of the year.

Already the better-than-expected performance of the economy has led to a record national output of goods and services this year of $80 billion dollars or better. ## Meredith Receives His Diploma

OXFORD, Miss., Aug. 19 (AP)—

Negro James H. Meredith graduated from the University of Mississippi yesterday in a quiet ceremony in an oak grove within rock-throwing distance of the center of last fall's rioting touched off by his enrollment.

The 30-year-old air force veteran, wearing the black cap and gown of the graduating senior, received a bachelor of arts degree in political science to become the first Negro alumnus in the school's 115-year-old history.

Campus police and federal marshals stood guard during the 1 1/2-hour program, held in a shed, just before 3,000 federal troops streamed into this small college town.

Two men were killed and scores injured in the Sept. 30 riot that brought 30,000 federal troops streaming into this small college town.

But the last of the troops were gone yesterday. The graduation went off without a hitch. There were no incidents and no rioting at the ceremony.

"Most of us are just glad to get rid of him," said one of Meredith's fellow graduates after the ceremony.

"I'm glad he got his diploma. I think he deserved it," said another.

About 40 Negroes were scattered throughout the audience of 3,000, including Meredith's parents, his wife, Mary Jane, and their 3-year-old son, John.

The little boy stepped out between the rows of folding chairs to get a better view of his father as the 40 candidates for degrees.

"Heroes" Needed

Not much doubt exists that congress generally is held in fairly low esteem today. The question is why.

A considerable group argues that congress needs major reform of both its structure and functions to equip it for the faster pace of late-20th century change.

The many reform proposals are a subject for separate discussion. But even the surface evidence of cumbersome, repetitive, outmoded procedures is enough to suggest that some sort of reform does indeed exist in order.

It is also contended that congress has a "bad image" because its political behavior is so close as to produce stalemate rather than vigorous action.

This, too, is evidently true. Even quite moderate legislative proposals can be blocked by a conservative coalition that has existed, in one form or another, continuously since 1889. Right now the combine contains more Republicans and Democrats than it does Democrats.

But since this particular condition is not new, and since, in any event, it is probably reasonably reflective of divisions within the nation itself, the political stalemate has been the best explanation for the decline in congressional prestige.

A third suggestion is that congress today simply does not have the forceful, colorful leadership it requires to play a more vital role in national affairs.

It is a saying that is saying that a company, whatever its status and reputation, is only as good as the men who make it up. This would appear to hold for congress, for an executive agency of government, or practically any other organization.

The striking figures can't be found on Capitol hill today. The Democrats have no one with the authority of a Sam Rayburn, the endearing qualities of a Alben Barkley, the maneuvering skills of a Lyndon Johnson.

Republicans have no Robert Taft, the elder with his mastery of the legislative process. Nor have they an Arthur Vandenberg, with his late-blooming capacity to command the Senate for great causes. There would argue that congress is filled with faceless men because that is what our society produces in these post-war decades. But perhaps any are charged with being unheroic.

However, it is the fact remains that congress does not have heroes in 1963. Whether there are any "potentials" below the topmost power rungs is not wholly clear—and is worth exploring. In the meantime, at a stage when the nation seems to demand little or no sweeping action from its lawmakers, congress offers "leadership" well suited to stalemate. And surely this contributes heavily to the dull, gray image it now projects.

BITE NOW, PAY LATER

Anyone who has ever nursed a mouthful of misery until he had the money to pay for proper dental care will eye with interest the growth of two dental pay plans.

In the first type of financial operation a patient receives necessary services and then makes payments to a bank. The bank has a contract with the dentist as to which our friendly dentist belongs.

The dentist gets his money promptly, the patient gets relief, and the bank extracts interest from the patient—without delay.

Almost 90 million dollars have been financed in California alone by postpayment plans over the last 10 years, according to the American Dental Association.

For the fellow whose choppers are operating without any trouble, the pay-before-you-ache plans offer toothsome opportunities to anticipate trouble with the ivories.

Commercial insurance, and industrial and government programs offer this protection in varying measure.

The United States public health service reports that almost one million people spent almost $1 million dollars in 1962 for some form of pay-ahead dental plan. Actuaries cutting their eye teeth on the projections of present figures see 15 million in such plans by 1970.

Over the past three years alone, dental service corporations have been chartered in 21 states.

So—see your dentist three times this year—the last two times for checkups, the first time to investigate the financial ways you can pay for dental care.

Oh, sure, you favorite tooth savor will ease your pain at once, if you're in misery. But it's not fair to keep him waiting for his dough while you enjoy a long self-inflicted dental agony and even get your own teeth fixed.

WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULY
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—A whirligig thing happened the other day in Chicago. A proposal for an amendment to the constitution reversing the supreme court's reapportionment decision was defeated by a mere 153 to 147 vote by the American Bar Association's House of Delegates.

Ordinarily, 198 to 154 would be considered a "comfortable" margin, but not on this issue. What this result meant was that 112 lawyers opposed the proposal, but that 74 actually were considered enough, or merely enough to vote FOR it. It means that 38 of the nation's vital branches of government were considered enough to vote FOR it.

More than anything else in recent years, this vote was a reminder that the supreme court is now constituted in a serious danger. It has been on the spot ever since its school integration order in 1954, and it will be in trouble for some years to come.

PRESIDENTS CONGRESS TO BLAME—It is trouble largely because both the White House and the congress have repeatedly passed the buck to the other. Instead of initiative and legislation, the last three Presidents and the congress instead have permitted these problems to come to the supreme court for solution by constitutional interpretation. The court has not taken the initiative in these matters, it has had the initiative forced upon it by the reluctance of the White House and congress to perform their normal functions.

DEEPER-VICTIMS NEGRO—Negroes that go back 20 years, there was no attempt to legislate any redress for the Negro. Naturally, then, this was the first degradation to the schools and then a smattering of other public and private policies were ruled illegal. Meaning that the Negro was to be considered—and this against both prayers and Bible reading in public schools.

UNFOUNDED ACCUSATION—As a result, the court has been accused of making the law when it was merely interpreting it. Those who level this accusation are not only fools, but also responsible legislators, governors and dividers. There is no such thing as a free lunch anywhere can be composed entirely of idiots.

In short, the movement to come to the supreme court to solve its constitutional powers, has become respectable. Mostly, it is pursued in the name of state's rights. The state's rights have been handed down through a substantial proportion of the population disagreed with and feared the court's decision. In the end, the court's decision is a decision struck at the ancient practice of state legislatures dividing their seats so to perpetuate the power of the majority.

"WILD STUFF" DOWN—Incredible as it may seem, the supreme court is not only responsible for the business of the nation, but also for the business of the state. It is a saying that is saying that a company, whatever its status and reputation, is only as good as the men who make it up. This would appear to hold for congress, for an executive agency of government, or practically any other organization.

Views of Others

LAND BETWEEN THE LAKES
During the 1920's and early 1930's, it was known that there was a lake between the two states. It was a wilderness between the two states. It was a wilderness between the two states. It was a wilderness between the two states.

As the TVA and the U. S. engineers moved in, they found a lake between the two states. It was a wilderness between the two states. It was a wilderness between the two states. It was a wilderness between the two states.

Haiti Force Labors to Expel Exiles

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Aug. 19 (U)—Reinforced government troops were reported speeding drive today to push-exile invaders out of the northeast mountain area around Mont Organs, near the Haiti-Dominican border.

Fresh troops were airlifted out of the capital's commercial airport Saturday and Sunday. The main highway north was jammed with trucks filled with militia units.

A rebel spokesman in Santo Domingo claimed fresh triumphs for Gen. Leon Cantave, invading force.

The rebels claimed that before pulling out of Mont Organs, they wiped out a government force and shot down one of the government's two operational Mustang fighter planes.

Unconfirmed reports in Port au Prince said a government plane had not returned from a reconnaissance flight over Mont Organs Saturday.

Cantave led a band of exiles into Haiti last week, with the aim of bringing down the dictatorship of President Francois Duvalier. He is reported to have enough popular support for attacks on major cities and his forces took to the mountains to begin a guerrilla campaign. The rebels captured Mont Organs Thursday.

Official sources acknowledged that Duvalier's forces are having trouble handling the situation in the northeast.

Other winners in the gun dog division were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ashley, Boise, and handled by Phil White, Nampa, second; Schatz, owned and handled by Roy H. Brownson, 2761 East 4310 South, Salt Lake City, third; and Bourbon, owned by Gary Stevens, Boise, and also handled by Phil White.

Derby stakes winners were Scholten-Madison, a German short-haired pointer owned by Ed Young, Idaho Falls, first; Princess Fairy-Britannia, owned by Phil White, second; Timber Lamp, owned by Phil White, third; Zeus V. D. Radbach, owned by Dr. Max Wilkinson, Twin Falls, fourth.

Winners among the 15 dogs competing in puppy stake trials were: Missy, an Irish setter owned by Gordon Frear, Seattle, Wash., and trained and handled by Phil White, first; Rector, a German short-haired pointer, owned by W. H. Henry, 2885 S. 10th, Peaslee, second; and handled by Betty Henry, second; Sir Boss, an Irish setter, owned by Frear, third; and handled by White, third; and Roughshooter, John L. owned and handled by White.

There were 50 dogs entered in the show.

Dates for five Inter-mountain area hunting dog trials were announced at Sunday's trials, which was attended by nearly 200 persons, including participants and interested onlookers.

An American Field licensed trial will be held Sept. 7-8 at Port Blaine's wildlife management area, west of Parma, under sponsorship of the German Short-haired Pointer club of Idaho.

Sept. 25-26 of an AKC licensed trial featuring a Continental gun dog stake with a $500 purse.

On Oct. 5-6, the Gooding Short-haired Pointer club of East Idaho will sponsor a German AKC sanctioned and third American Field licensed trials 10 miles west of Idaho Falls.

The German Short-haired Pointer club of Utah will sponsor trials Oct. 12 and 13 at Salt Lake City and the Magic Valley club will again sponsor field trials Oct. 19-20.

Burley Pointer Wins Top Gun Dog Spot at Trials

A 6-year-old English pointer named Sassy Sis, owned and handled by Barney Greener, 935 Oakley avenue, Burley, placed first Sunday afternoon in competition with 17 other dogs in the gun dog stake of the one-day trials held here for hunting dogs from Idaho, Utah, Washington and Nevada.

Two Youths Picked to Get Puppies

YMAHUA PORT, Mass., Aug. 18 (U)—Missouri boy and an Illinois girl will get two direct descendants of the Soviet state dog Burka from the White House kennel.

Mark Beus, 11, Columbus, Mo., and Karen House, 11, Westchester, Ill., a Chicago suburb, exchanged a mutual puppy when they learned that Mrs. John F. Kennedy had chosen them from among 5,000 applicants for "puppies."

"It can hardly believe it," said Karen, a minister's son, who accidentally killed his dog with a swinging baseball bat this summer.

Karen said she originally got one of the standard White House puppies, but she was rejected because of the number of applications. But then came Sunday's telephone call from Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, President Kennedy's personal secretary, and Karen said, "I'm all mixed up."

Then her parents couldn't quite believe it, they called the White House to make sure it wasn't a hoax.

Of the brown puppies born to Pushinka, daughter of the Soviet dog that orbited the earth, Karen will receive Breaker, a male, Mark will receive Breaker, a male.

Butler and Breaker, along with Blackie and White Tip, from born June 14 to Pushinka, a gift to the Kennedys from Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The pups were bred by Charles Carroll Kennedy's father, Caroline named all four pups.

Mrs. Kennedy in a hospital recovering from the birth of a premature baby who lived less than two days, asked to see some of the puppies requesting them.

"I'm very excited for her. From these First Lady chose Karen and Mark to receive the pups."

Statistics Show Dan Cupid Needs Deputies

By PATRICIA McORMACK
NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Dan Cupid needs a few deputies—or at least a few more.

The statistical truth, you see, is that Dan has been letting in increasing numbers of "unmarried" males survive in the stalled state of bachelorhood.

By the end of next year, the number of unmarried males will exceed the previous peak of 19.3 million, recorded in 1940.

And by 1975, the same counters expect to find 24 million in the bachelor corps.

It's enough to make the nation's unmarried females petition the calendar makers for a leap year every year. How else can they propose to the long-legged man who won't ask for a quick end of bachelorhood—and leaving on their own terms?

Statisticians at the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, meanwhile, have put together a report that might help the single males catch their man. The report answers the question: "Where are the unmarried men?"

The four largest states—New York, California, Pennsylvania and Illinois—account for 31 per cent of the nation's unmarried males.

Each has more than one million bachelors roaming the highways and byways, the report says.

If a woman wants to trap a man, any age, the hunting's best in those states.

These statistics—plus Texas—figure for women aiming only for a mate between 18 and 25.

But women with minds made for the male who marry at 26—

California had the largest number of such young bachelors, 1,000,000.

New York was next with 884,000; Pennsylvania, 784,000; and Illinois, 744,000.

A single male who can't succeed in these states must pull out his pocket calculator and figure he's trapped himself.

Alaska, for example, ranks as a fine place to find a mate. In 1960, men outnumbered women by more than four to one at the age of 18 to 24.

Hawaii, not a bad place to go, too, for the unmarried male.

Statisticians said in 1960 there were 174 men for every 100 women in Hawaii.

In the nation generally, under age 45 the large majority of unmarried men are in the 18 to 24 age group.

"Even at ages 45 to 54, widows represent less than 16 per cent of the unmarried men," the report noted.

"The divorced, as a proportion of the unmarried men, decrease a maximum of 25 per cent at ages 45 to 54, but decrease thereafter."

Other highlights of the report: Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Florida and New Hampshire have a relatively large number of widowers.

Alaska and Hawaii have the fewest number of widowers.

This being the case, 19 per cent of the unmarried males in California and Oregon and 30 per cent in Nevada.

In South Carolina divorced males account for only three per cent of the unmarried men.

In North Dakota, North Carolina, New York and New Jersey, divorced males account for about four per cent of the "available" men.

Statistics show that the number of unmarried males will exceed the previous peak of 19.3 million, recorded in 1940.

And by 1975, the same counters expect to find 24 million in the bachelor corps.

It's enough to make the nation's unmarried females petition the calendar makers for a leap year every year.

How else can they propose to the long-legged man who won't ask for a quick end of bachelorhood—and leaving on their own terms?

New York Miss Only 16, Earns $50 Per Hour

By GAY FAULEY
NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Golden Girl has just turned 16, but already she is a cover girl, a model earning $50 an hour, and holder of a long-term movie contract.

She is Miss America 1964.

"I'd rather model," said the teen-ager beauty, "than be a cover girl. I couldn't be a cover girl. I'd rather be a model."

That was the only bi-lateral statement, however, that she offered during an interview. She "discovered" this young success story because she had helped with a "model" book.

She was 14 at the time and her earnings were $40 an hour. She now has moved to the Ford agency and the other girls got a raise to $50, she said.
